'Leave nothing to chance'

Why should I plan for my own funeral?

"It is inevitable that at some time, you will suffer the stress and trauma of bereavement. The uncertainty that when the need arises, relatives and friends will accurately recall and interpret your wishes, had they been previously indicated, is a concern."

Most family decisions are made together when time is convenient. decisions such as moving house, changing the car or planning holidays are talked over and considered, yet one of the most caring decisions that can be made for your family is often delayed or not even discussed until it is too late.

The last thing you would want your family or friends to inherit, especially at a time of grief, is the responsibility of recalling your funeral arrangements.

Funeral planning is a simple process whereby the arrangements reflect your wishes, personal records are organised and decisions made at a convenient time.

Shoobridge Funeral Services, in partnership with Low Cost Funerals Exeter, have prepared the following document that allows you to record the main details of a funeral. You can simply print this form off and complete it at a time that is convenient, keep it in a safe place or pass it to your next of kin or someone close to you. Alternatively, you can complete the form On-line and submit your wishes to us, upon which we will answer any questions or queries that you may have and we can, if you wish, provide you with a costing using current prices. Furthermore, we can provide you with details regarding taking out a funeral plan whereby you can pay for your funeral at today's prices, protecting yourself against rising costs.
